

IMPORTING CIDER WITH ASTON MANOR FAQs

If you're considering importing cider brands or developing a cider for your domestic market, we would love to hear from you. Here are some common questions to review before contacting us:

Are there minimum order quantities for your orders?

For branded ciders, we would expect a minimum order of at least one pallet per brand. We do not offer mixed pallets of cider.

What packaging formats are available for your apple and flavoured ciders?

We have brands available in cans, glass and PET bottles. You can check format availability on the brand section of our website.

What is the shelf life of these packaging formats?

The shelf life of freshly produced stock is 18 months for glass, 12 months for cans and 9 months for PET and Bag in Box.

What countries can you export your cider to?

We can ship anywhere in the world.

How much export experience do you have?

We have been exporting our ciders for over twenty years.

Do you offer exclusivity for countries that import your branded ciders?

In certain cases, and each case is evaluated on its merits, we may offer exclusivity.

Can you help us develop our own cider brand?

We are the UK's leading supplier of private label cider brands. Our product development team can work with you to create your own cider recipes/styles and create packaging design and artwork solutions for your market.

Do you have a minimum order for private label brands?

Our minimum order for own label export cider is 24,500 litres for glass and PET, 50,000 litres for cans. However there are also minimum order levels for packaging materials to consider.

Can you package a cider into 330ml PET bottles?

Our manufacturing plant is one of the few in Europe that can offer to fill PET bottles from smaller 330ml bottles up to larger 3 litre bottles.

Can I purchase apple cider as a bulk liquid?

We do supply bulk liquid for customers in certain markets. However, this also requires the support of storage and packaging solutions in your home market, which we would need to discuss further with you.